ADVANTAGE CREDIT OFFERS CREDIT REPORTING SERVICES THROUGH THE MYERS' INTERNET ORIGINATOR NETWORK PLATFORM

CLEVELAND, OH, June 17, 2002— Advantage Credit announced today at the NAMB 2002 Annual Convention that its credit reporting services are now available through Myers' Internet Originator Network—a back-office portal that provides access to web-based origination products and services.

“Myers is one of the most widely used platforms in our industry,” said Lance Forchilli, V.P. of Business Development for Advantage Credit. “That supports our goal of giving brokers the right credit reporting technology and service by being integrated with the industry's most popular networks,” he continued. Advantage serves the credit reporting needs of over 5,000 mortgage originators through Online Services, the company's web-based credit reporting system, and through WinACI, a Windows-based system. The company's clients include some of the nation's largest mortgage brokerages, including Allied Mortgage and Carteret Mortgage.

Myers' Internet, through its Originator Network, brings the ability to order settlement services electronically, and website management tools, access to marketing services plus other small business tools to over 7,000 of its own mortgage broker and banker clients.

“We are pleased to partner with Advantage Credit to offer their credit products,” said Warren H. Myer, CEO of Myers' Internet, Inc. “Now users of Originator Network will be able to order products from Advantage Credit with a few clicks of the mouse.”
